The methodology document provides additional information regarding methods and definitions.

The June 2017 release includes the following updates to the existing ArcGIS Online service and maps for Bahrain:

- The demographic data's vintage was updated from 2014 to 2016. (with the exception of Unemployed Population which is 2015.)
- The layer ID schema was updated to match new/removed geographies and generalizations.

Esri demographic datasets are part of the Living Atlas of the World. The Living Atlas is an incredible collection of maps and apps from around the world. It features Esri and user content, that can enhance your research and analysis. You too can contribute your maps, apps, and story maps through the Living Atlas contributor app.

Using Demographic Data

Government agencies use demographic data to provide better services to citizens. Marketers use demographic data to select store locations, target customers, and improve product mix. Utilities use demographic data to understand population changes in their service areas and to plan growth and distribution accordingly.

When you map Esri demographic layers along with your data, you can answer questions such as “who are my customers?” and “where should we open the next store?” For example, map your retail locations or offices on top of Esri demographic attributes such as population, age, and purchasing power, to understand the local community from a demographic perspective. Once you see the general pattern, Esri products such as ArcGIS Online, Business Analyst, and ArcGIS Maps for Office, can help you find other suitable locations for new stores based on actionable criteria.

Use the Data Browser in Esri products such as ArcGIS Online, Business Analyst and ArcGIS Maps for Office to easily find the attributes you want. Browse by category such as Age, or search by Alias Name, as shown below:
